

16TH ANNUAL CHICAGO DIABETES DAY

Saturday, May 14, 2022 9AM - 1PM CDT

Join the University of Chicago's Diabetes Research & Training Center and the Kovler Diabetes Center for the 16th Annual Chicago Diabetes Day on May 14.

This free, virtual conference will feature talks from expert speakers on topics spanning diagnosis, management & treatment. This activity is approved for AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™. The keynote sessions will be given by Kasia Lipska, MD and Felicia Hills-Briggs, PhD, ABPP.

The Insulin Cost Scandal: Why Does a Century Old Medicine Still Cost So Much

Dr. Lipska is an Associate Professor of Medicine (Endocrinology) at the Yale School of Medicine and a Clinical Investigator at the Yale-New Haven Hospital Center for Outcomes Research and Evaluation (CORE).

Social determinants of Health & Diabetes

2022 Recipient of the Donald F. Steiner Award for Outstanding Achievement in Diabetes Research

Dr. Hill-Briggs is Vice President of Prevention at Northwell Health, the largest health system in the state of New York. She is Associate Director of the Institute of Health System Science at the Feinstein Institutes for Medical Research, and the inaugural Simons Foundation Distinguished Chair in Clinical Research at the Donald and Barbara Zucker School of Medicine at Hofstra/Northwell.

Kovler
Diabetes
Center

FULL SPEAKER LINE UP ► AND REGISTRATION INFORMATION

This is a free event, but advanced registration is required. Specific information regarding accreditation is available at cme.uchicago.edu/DiabetesDay2022